FROM OUR FAMILY TO YOURS

Passed down for over a hundred years from our family to yours, the Brumby family continues to produce the World's greatest southern made rocking chairs. Expertly hand crafted, caned and stained; the original specifications of the 19th century Brumby® Jumbo Rocker are maintained to ensure the most comfortable and elegant rocker on the market.

The Brumby Chair Company was originally founded by James Remley Brumby and Thomas M. Brumby in 1875. The company of today is still owned and managed by the Brumby family. These historic rockers once found on broad verandas of southern plantations, now line porches, living rooms, nurseries and balconies around the world. Made from solid Appalachian Red Oak with the same care and expert craftsmanship of its forebears, this collector's item carries the seal of the original Brumby Chair Company from 1875.

Brumby® Rockers have become synonymous with creating lasting family memories. Whether you're rocking a new baby to sleep or relaxing with family and friends on your front porch, Brumby Rockers have been an integral part of family heritages for over a century.

Authentically American, distinctively Southern, we hope your family will create lasting memories with your Brumby Rocker for years to come.

Manufactured in Marietta, GA for over a century, The Brumby® Rocker is a collector's item

History of commitment to the oldest product in Georgia still in production

When the Brumby family of Marietta, GA handcrafted its first rocking chair shortly after the end of the Civil War, they never imagined that over a century later they would still be producing these family heirlooms. Made with the same care and to the 19th century specifications, these classic rockers carry the seal of the original Brumby Chair Company of Marietta, Georgia. Since 1875, Brumby Rockers have adorned American porches of large antebellum homes, sprawling verandas of luxury resorts and The Truman Balcony of the White House.

Once the largest employer in Marietta, GA, the factory housed over 350 employees and manufactured over 150 furniture lines. The World's finest southern made rocker is still produced in Marietta, GA, just a quarter mile from the original production site that housed The Brumby Chair Company in 1875.

This century old southern classic is the epitome of craftsmanship, comfort and elegance. Still produced by the great grandchildren of one of the original founders, Thomas M. Brumby, this great southern heritage continues. Tradition has it that you had to work two weeks to buy a Brumby Rocker, but once you had it, you had it for life.

Kennesaw Avenue Factory, just north of the Marietta Square, housed the Brumby Chair Company from 1875 to 1945.

Quality southern heirloom that can be passed down for generations

The Brumby Chair Company's intricately assembled rockers are still hand-crafted, hand-caned and hand-stained by Brumby Chair Company artisans. All Brumby Rockers are made from the finest Appalachian Red Oak, with extra tall, steam bent back posts to allow for added comfort and durability. Chair parts are hand-wedged, not glued or stapled, together to allow the wood to give with the change in temperature. The custom cut runners are carefully bent to ensure an even rock and are attached with solid brass carriage bolts for added strength.

Brumby Chair Company artisan assembles a Brumby Jumbo Rocker.

Using cane from the Orient, the seat and back are still expertly hand-woven in a tight, Herringbone pattern that is not found on other American made rocking chairs today. These tightly constructed seats and backs add a stylish and polished artistic design to every chair. The final production process includes applying multiple coats of stain and lacquer to ensure a lasting finish for inside and outside rocking enjoyment for generations to come.
